Watermelon — the Name

Means Hope, Arkansas

The Tragedy of Potain

Revival of the famous Hope Watermelon Festival this Wednesday should mark a new and determined attempt to cash in commercially on a generation-long publicity campaign that has made this product synonymous with the name of our city.

The major festivals were held from 1926 through 1930, attracting the greatest agricultural crowds in the history of this state, estimates of the 1928 show—when the late Joseph T. Robinson appeared as vice-president nominee of the Democratic party—ranging as high as 50,000.

But watermelon promotion antedated the festivals by several years. Looking back through the Arkansas Centennial Edition of The Star (1936) I note that the late John S. Gibson is credited with having first stimulated big-melon production by offering prizes.

The Laester brothers were the first local farmers to bring in melons weighing more than 100 pounds. The year 1925 was epochal because Hugh Laester exhibited here a melon certified at 130 pounds and it was presented to President Calvin Coolidge.

The first watermelon festival was held the following year, August 12, 1926, and in that year Edgar Laester pushed the melon championship up to 143 3/4 pounds. A. B. Turner was a close second with 141 1/4.

In 1927 Arthur Powell brought in a new champion at 144, H. S. Dudley running a very close second with 143 3/4 pounds.

The following year, 1928, Mr. Dudley won the title with a new high mark, 144 3/4 pounds.

In 1929 Edgar Laester came back with a still better one, 152 1/2 pounds. Then came O. D. Middlebrooks of Patmos. In 1930 he left every body behind with a melon weighing 164 3/4 pounds. And that mark stood for four years.

Until 1935—when the same Mr. Middlebrooks brought in the watermelon that still stands as the largest edible melon produced anywhere in the world, 195. It was bought from Mr. Middlebrooks by this community and presented to Arkansas Motion Picture Actor Dick Powell at his home in Hollywood.

This is the amazing record that has made watermelons synonymous with Hope around the world. And yet, even at the height of our great watermelon festivals of the past it is a fact that one Georgia town shipped out more commercial melons in a single day than were cleared by Hope in an entire season.

We have the quality, but we simply do not have the commercial organization to capitalize on our publicity for the benefit of the melon producer. And that is the one thing we ought to concentrate on from this time forward.

Yesterday's paper reported the tragedy of Henri Philippe Potain. Greatest hero of his time in France, it was his fate to live too long.

In World War I he stopped the Germans at Verdun.

But in World War II, after the French politicians had let their country be overrun by the enemy, Potain at the age of 84 was called on to head his government—a call which he most unwisely accepted.

Although France was already lost some Frenchmen said Potain was a traitor, and after the Allied victory and the liberation of France they brought him to trial and convicted him. He died yesterday in exile and disgrace at the age of 93.

History will say less about Potain's disloyalty and more about the ingratitude of the French people. They had no business making an 84-year-old hero the goat for their own political errors.

For at 84 a man's life and reputation are proof against whatever the mob may say.

I honor Potain. I feel sorry for France—as I feel sorry for any country which is more resolute against its proven leaders than it is against a foreign enemy.

Five Persons Hurt in Crash East on 67

Two automobiles collided about 2 p. m. today 3 miles east of Hope on Highway 67, leaving five persons injured.

An auto driven by Rex Rutledge, U. S. Army of San Antonio, careened in passing an automobile and crashed into another vehicle driven by Albert Brewer of Hamilton, Ohio.

Mrs. W. B. Brewer suffered a badly crushed leg and her husband suffered a chest injury. The son and driver, Albert, also suffered a broken leg. Mrs. Brewer was taken to a Little Rock hospital for special treatment today.

Rutledge and a fellow serviceman Odis Deaton of San Antonio, were bruised and cut but not believed to be seriously injured.

State police investigated the accident.

Battle Shapes for Control in Britain

London, July 24 — (AP) — A showdown fight between Prime Minister Attlee's Labor government and the dissident forces of Aneurin Bevan was seen shaping up today as the party's local elections voiced open concern over Attlee's policies.

Marked hostility by rank and file Laborites to rising living costs and concern at the size of Britain's rearmament program was highlighted in the publication of preliminary resolutions submitted for the ruling party's annual conference at Scarborough Oct. 1 to 5.

The resolutions indicated that many of the parties local units feel the Attlee government follows Washington's foreign policy line too closely.

Several of the proposals support the stand of former Labor Minister Bevan, who seeks to wrest control of party policy from the cabinet. Bevan and three other rebels on the party's 26-member executive claim the size of the rearmament program threatens domestic socialist goals.

A conference committee now will consolidate the proposed resolutions. Usually it has managed to head off such controversial moves before they reach the convention floor, but with Bevan on the firing line, it may have trouble doing so this year.

A total of 134 motions on wages, prices and profits were submitted for the preliminary agenda. Their general tenor was that soaring prices are causing hardship for the working man and threatening the party's welfare state plans.

Last year only 44 proposals were submitted on the same topics.

Electrical Workshop in Progress Here

The first of a series of eight Rural Electrification workshops for vocational agriculture teachers opened at Hope vocational agriculture department yesterday.

Teachers are being oriented in the three day sessions to teach high school, adult and veteran farmer students fundamentals in the use of electricity, safety and the adaptation of electricity to the many uses in the farm and home.

Farm shopwork as part of the agriculture course of study was discussed by C. R. Wilkey, state supervisor, and O. J. Seymour, district supervisor.

Ross Mauney, director of rural sales and development, of Arkansas Power and Light Company, Boone Richardson, University of Arkansas, and Bob Beck of A. P. and L. today were giving practical demonstrations in problems of overloaded circuits, wiring defects, fuses, switches, and safety measures.

The workshop will continue through the third day with further practical applications of electricity and the making of teaching plans to carry instruction in electricity to approximately 60,000 youths and adults enrolled in vocational agriculture courses in 340 high schools in the state.

Additional workshops covering the entire state will be held as follows according to Mr. Wilkey: July 25-27, Arkadelphia; July 30-August 1, Jonesboro; August 1-3, Bald Knob; August 6-8, Brinkley; August 8-10, Watson Chapel; August 13-15, Fayetteville; August 15-17, Dardanelle.

R. E. Jackson, local vocational agriculture supervisor, was in charge of arrangements for the Hope meeting and N. E. Gaham of Stamps was chairman.

Car at Stop Light Hit by Another

An automobile driven by James Charles Harper crashed into the back of another which had stopped for a red light yesterday at Third and Hazel Streets. The second vehicle was driven by Mrs. Hamp Fucit. Small damage resulted in investigating city police said.

Surplus Water Is Problem of This Section

Surplus water on good farmland has been a problem that many Hempstead County farmers have had to contend with since the century. Drainage is a rather technical and expensive operation and very little farm land was drained until 1930, when the government recognizing this condition began offering assistance to farmers thru the Agricultural Conservation Program.

According to Earl N. Marindale, Chairman of the Hempstead County PMA Committee, more than 5,000 acres of some of the best farmland in the county has been brought into production or otherwise benefited by Construction of drainage ditches. Approximately 500 acres were adequately drained in Hempstead County in 1950, under the agricultural conservation program, which is administered by the Production and Marketing Administration, Mr. Marindale said.

The chairman further stated that with an ever increasing population and an expanding defense program, increased production can hardly be over emphasized. Although much has been accomplished in the drainage program in the county only the surface has been scratched. It has been estimated by agricultural groups that about 20,000 acres in Hempstead County need an adequate drainage system.

County PMA office records show that the following farmers have requested prior approvals for the construction of drainage ditches in 1951: Bill Hood, McCaskill, Lee Hendrix, Rt. 5, Prescott, J. F. Harris, Rt. 1, McNabb, G. D. Royston, Rt. 3, Hope, R. L. McCain, Hope, A. W. Biorseth, Rt. 3, Hope, Guy Green, Ozan, Newt Black, Rt. 1, Fulton, Felix Gaston, Nashville, J. W. Seymour, Fulton, J. O. Taylor, Rt. 4, Hope, John R. Willett, Rt. 1, Nashville, Lawton Cobb, Rt. 1, Nashville, Warren Nesbitt, Blevins, John Dellsnay, Rt. 2, Nashville, John Virgil Tollett, Rt. 2, Nashville, John L. Wilson, Columbus, C. D. Lester, Fulton, C. W. Harrington, Rt. 1, Hope, Verdo Tollett, Rt. 2, Nashville, and Dr. Joe E. Thomas, Nashville.

"Farmers needing drainage ditches should contact the county PMA office in the Court House in Hope for additional information at their earliest convenience," the chairman pointed out.

Whip Barred in Colorado Prison

Denver, July 24 — (AP) — Use of the whip will no longer be allowed in Colorado's prison, the state institution board has decided.

The board met yesterday to consider the whipping of six convicts, five of whom last week took part in a prison riot and shot two guards.

It outlawed the whip but refused to order charges against Warden Roy Best who ordered the harsh discipline.

Governor Thornton, acting on the board's suggestion, said that if charges were brought against the warden they would have to be the work of the district attorney in the prison town, J. Stump Witcher of Canon City.

Witcher said he wants to investigate further before he decides.

Colorado has no law to prohibit flogging. It has been used many times during past years to punish difficult prison cases.

8 Mississippi Men Deny Job Selling

Jackson, Miss., July 24 — (AP) — Eight of Mississippi's top pro-Truman Democrats pleaded innocent yesterday to federal charges of conspiring to sell government jobs.

They included Clarence Hood, deposed acting Democratic national committeeman; C. T. Rogers, secretary of the Curtiss Democratic committee formed after the state's regular Democratic bolted in 1948 to support the States Rights; B. C. Beasley, former committee secretary; Laverne Yelverton, office secretary; and Frank Mize, chairman of the committee.

They were among the 12 indicted last week by a special grand jury. The eight voluntarily submitted to arrest.

Others of the group were Roy Brasher of Brookhaven, Henry Debow of Jackson and Dewey MacLeod of Mt. Olive.

Arrested and freed on bond last Friday were committee counsel Forrest Jackson and committee woman Mrs. C. V. Murphy of Winona and her husband.

J. H. Wilkinson of Jackson is the only one of the 12 who has not appeared at the U. S. marshal's office.

All 12 were indicted on the conspiracy charge. Brasher, Debow and Rogers were also indicted for perjury. Their bonds were $5,000, the rest $2,500.

All must appear in federal court here Sept. 5.

The grand jury investigation was touched off by charges on the U. S. senate floor. A senate committee held hearings here in April after the charges that the committee was asking contributions in return for recommendations to federal job appointments.

By PAUL C. DITZEL For Hal Boyle.

Chicago — (AP) — Give me a smoky basement fire to tangle with and you can keep your baseball games and television.

I'll never hope for a fire, but when the engines dash by you and bet your boots I'll grab mine and take off for the blaze, pulling on my firecoat and hat.

I'm a fire buff. I like to go to fires and grab a hose line and follow firemen into a "ripe" working fire.

Any buff worth his boots will bolt from bed on a wintry morning to take in an extra alarm blaze.

Buff got their name from the horse-drawn steamer days when fire engine chasers huddled in Buffalo robes at fires in sub-zero temperatures. We also are known as "fire fans," "sparks," and "Red Hots."

Many of us "ustrated firemen" have fire alarm registers on radios next to our beds. We keep our boots and coats nearby.

Like any buff whose eyes glisten as the sirens set up a crescendo of wails I take plenty of abuse from smoke and hocking friends.

Why do I chase fire engines? I don't know. Can you explain why you memorize batting averages? Best answer a fire buff gives to the raised eyebrow is, "show me a guy who doesn't like to watch a fire or the drama of a 100-foot aerial ladder truck threading through traffic and I'll show you a bore."

On my days off I often head for a busy fire station where friendly firemen always welcome another hand.

Comes bedtime and you arrange your boots and trousers near your door.

49,920 Pounds of Melon Iced for Visitors

The committee has purchased 1,391 choice watermelons ranging from 40 to 60 pounds, a total of 49,920 pounds at $1 per hundred. The melons are unusually nice.

The group had nothing but praise for William Stephenson of the Southern Ice Company which is icing the melons free of charge and to the Temple Cotton Oil Company for weighing the melons.

All grading and overseeing is in charge of Oscar Rider who was hired by Police civic group SWAP. Arrangements have been made whereby iced melons will be available to the Negro residents who are planning to hold a festival of their own at Hope City park.

Progressives Plan to Enter a Candidate

New York, July 24 — (AP) — The Progressive party has served notice that it will enter a candidate in the 1952 presidential election, but it hasn't said who.

The party, which polled more than 1,100,000 votes in 1948, says that in 1952 it will give "an opportunity for the people of this nation to fight and vote for a national ticket dedicated to real peace, to a welfare economy, to the full restoration of the bill of rights and to full equality for the Negro people."

Party Chairman Elmer A. Benson and Secretary C. B. Baldwin announced the Progressives' 1952 plans yesterday in a statement calling for an "extraordinary session" of the party's national committee.

The meeting was scheduled for Aug. 18 and 19 in the Midwest, probably in Minneapolis or Chicago, the two party officials said.

Plans for 1952, including the time and place of a national convention, will be discussed by the national committee, they added.

Henry A. Wallace was the party's candidate in the last presidential election, but he quit the party a year ago after it raised objections to American participation in the Korean war.

The Benson-Baldwin statement made no mention of Wallace.

Instead, it attacked three others frequently mentioned as 1952 presidential candidates — President Truman, Senator Taft and General Eisenhower.

Neither of these three "offers a program of peace, security and freedom," the statement said.

It added that the Democrats were fitting up Mr. Truman in new clothes as a "peace candidate," while the Republicans were building a platform of "equal parts of McCarthyism and MacArthurism."

The statement attacked American negotiations with Franco Spain, the government bail case concerning the four Communist fugitives and the "reactionary press" as trying to "wreck" Korean truce talks.

bed in the upstairs bunkroom. The clatter of the telephone key and ding-ding of the register sounding alarms in other parts of the city lulls you into semi-sleep.

Then it hits.

The wake-up alarm bell orders you out of bed and into your boots.

Grab for the pole and slide down. Squeeze into your coat and reach for the back rail of the rig.

Swing aboard as the 1,000 gallon pumper eases itself out of the station. You're on your way to another blaze.

I've gone to at least 200 fires since I became a buff. Some were minor, others were tragic.

I've choked on smoke at tenement house fires and waded through water at a four-alarm fire in Chicago's stockyards. I've seen fires in New York, Buffalo, Washington, D. C., and Toronto, Ont.

When I visited Europe last summer I took in fires in London, Paris, Stockholm, and Copenhagen.

One Christian I helped carry the body of a priest from a blazing rectory at a two-alarm fire in Buffalo. Last winter I watched helplessly with my fireman pals while eight persons dropped into the flames during a five-alarm fire in a Chicago hotel.

Buff in many cities have formed clubs complete with fire museums and stations where they keep siren and bell-equipped trucks ready to roll on all second alarms to serve coffee to tired firemen.

Next time the fire equipment change by, look closely. The fellow clinging to the back and ladder may be your local banker, a prominent lawyer or the corner grocer — all good buffs and good firemen.

Game Laws Changed by Commission

After the public hearing the Arkansas Game and Fish Commission met to consider which of the recommendations submitted warranted immediate attention. As a result, the Commission selected and augmented the following changes in regulations to become effective January 1, 1952.

1. Removed all size limits on the taking of black bass.

2. Changed the fishing season from November 1 through December 31, to July 1 through August 31, restricting all giggering to the daylight hours between sunrise and sunset.

3. Restricted guides from taking fish unless their catch is counted in with the daily bag limit of the sportmen they are guiding.

4. Ordered public hearings within the next 30 days as to whether the White River from Batesville north to Bull Shoals Dam should be closed to the taking of minnows commercially.

5. Went on record as favoring the continued maintenance by the Federal Government of the Locks on the upper White and Ouachita Rivers.

In another action the Commission rescinded its previous order concerning the 1941 deer season. This year's deer season will be held the second Monday and continuing through the following Saturday in both November and December—a full 12-day split season.

The Commission would like to emphasize that any action taken on fishing regulations at last week's meeting does not become effective until January 1, 1952. Strict enforcement of current regulations will be maintained until that time.

Housing Sought for Servicemen

Washington, July 23 — (AP) — High officials will be called Friday to tell a senate armed services subcommittee what they are doing to see that servicemen have decent housing at reasonable prices.

The subcommittee, headed by Texas' issued a report last week charging that some servicemen's families near military posts have been gouged for high rentals on houses.

Helpful Wages Although wages sometimes dampen fruit, they are very helpful to men, according to large numbers of caterpillars and other insects in the field, thus doing far more good than harm.

Water Ballet Is Special Feature of Night Program

A feature of the Watermelon Festival will be a special water ballet team from Texarkana under the direction of Mitchell Young of the American Red Cross.

The team is composed of four girl swimmers who perform to music in a beautiful ballet. Also in the show is a fancy high diver, a student from Ohio State University and a clown act that is guaranteed to furnish laughs. This part of the program starts promptly at 8 o'clock and offers the public something different in the way of entertainment.

Allied Troops Beat Off Red Probing Thrust

U. S. 8th Army Headquarters, Korea, July 24 — (AP) — Allied troops beat back eight Red probing attacks along the Korean front today and fought for the third successive day to drive Communist troops off high ground near the east coast.

All but one of the Red attacks were described as light.

But south of Kumsong, east of their fallen iron triangle, Chinese forces made "a large probing attack," the 8th Army reported.

It was halted, as were three in the Yangju sector of the front, by the 8th Army's four northward of Kumsong on the east coast.

The three-day battle raged southwest of Kumsong. It was still underway at 3 p. m. Tuesday (Monday midnight EST.) United Nations spokesmen described it as the fiercest fight in weeks.

U. N. warplanes roared through gathering clouds Tuesday and kept up their heavy pounding of Red communication lines.

The Fifth Air Force has been hitting truck and rail lines steadily with an average of 150 combat strikes a day, despite a diverse weather, too keep Communists from building up their front line forces during cease-fire talks.

In the month since peace talks were first proposed, the Fifth Air Force said, it mounted 19,387 combat sorties and destroyed or damaged 24 Red planes—mostly jets. U. N. pilots have bombed 2,260 Red vehicles, 20 locomotives, 600 railroad cars and inflicted 4,000 casualties in that time, the air force said.

Tuesday's early strikes centered around Pyongyang, Red Korean capital.

F-80 shooting star jets swept through the early morning darkness and raised havoc with the Kang-Dong rail yards 15 miles east of Pyongyang.

Lt. Charles A. Williams of Tulsa, Okla., who led the strike, reported rails were twisted and ripped from their ties. Twenty rail cars were reported destroyed and another 20 damaged.

The shooting star swept over the town so rapidly, Williams reported, that Red anti-aircraft didn't open up until the jets had dumped their bomb loads and were out of range.

Lt. Donald Vanderkarr of Kansas, Ill., led a later jet strike on Kang-Dong. He said it destroyed a double-deck rail and road bridge with accurate bomb hits.

Four waves of B-29 Superfortresses rained more than 1,000 bombs on Sarwin, rail and highway town between Pyongyang and Kaesong, late of cease-fire talks. Half the bomb load was dumped by radar techniques.

No Allied planes were lost Monday when 670 sorties were flown.

Sino Reds May Attack in Indo China

San Francisco, July 24 — (AP) — The Chinese Red radio said today a Communist delegation from Indochina has arrived in Peking to "strengthen the friendship between the peoples of China and Vietnam."

The Peking broadcast, picked up by San Francisco by the Associated Press, said the delegation was headed by Hoang Shao-chi, vice chairman of the Chinese Red forces front. The organization is fighting against the French government in Indo China.

The radio gave no indication of the strengthening of the take.

Western military men have speculated that only heavy fighting in Korea have prevented the Chinese Reds from full-scale intervention in Indochina.

Western observers have also said that a cease-fire in Indochina or elsewhere might free the Red forces to revert from former guerrilla type warfare.

The Chinese Nationalist military said the Chinese Red troops were "waiting for the right moment to march into Indochina."

The Peking broadcast said Indochinese Communist forces were met by three Vietnamese Communist forces more than 100 miles from the border.

Hope Shuts Out Texarkana Nine 4-0

Gilson Ross scattered 8 hits while his teammates tallied four times to rack up a shutout 4-0 victory over the highly-touted Prides from the Red River Arsenal plant at Texarkana last night at Legion field.

Hope wasted little time in the opening inning scoring on an error, singles by the White brothers who promptly stole a couple bases and scored on a wild pitch.

They added another in the third on singles by Filigamo, Beasley and Delwin Ross. The final run came when Bob White homered over the right field fence.

The nearest visitors came in the final stanza. With a man on first the pitcher doubles to deep center. Filigamo threw on a line to Ross who relayed to Buddy at the plate, cutting off the tally.

Ross struck out 11 while 5 Hope batters were whiffed.

THE GILA MURDER

BY JULIUS LONG

COPYRIGHT 1951 BY NEA SERVICE, INC.

THE STORY: Laura Colton, elite and social leader of Coltonville and the wealthiest woman in town, receives into the glove compartment of her car and is bitten by a strange, terrifying creature hiding there. It is the time she could be consumed by Mrs. and Mrs. Bob Crawford, who lived near the scene, Laura Colton is dead.

CHIEF MITCHELL realized soon enough that he had a case that was to make Coltonville history. What had happened to Laura Colton would make a story anywhere, and the fact that it had happened to Laura, the richest woman in Coltonville, made it a local sensation in the nine-day wonder class.

Chief Mitchell knew that a crisis in his life had arisen. This thing would have to be handled just right.

Doc McCracken, the coroner, an ancient man with a hearing aid that did not assist his hearing overmuch, took the matter coolly enough in stride, though the sight of the backed and severed component parts of the deadly lizard would make him shake his almost completely bald head.

"It didn't kill her," he said, "he gave it a technical name. 'It wasn't too serious, only something like this could easily put her out for keeps. What in the world was it that bit her?'"

Chief Mitchell shook his head. "Doc, I thought you'd maybe know. I never seen anything like it in 50 years. Some kind of a lizard, ain't it?" He spoke loudly from habit, and Dr. McCracken said:

"I guess so. But I never saw one that big or that color in Ohio. Looks like a lady's beaded bag."

Nevada Drops Football

Reno, July 24 --(AP)—The regents today dropped football from the University of Nevada sports calendar, effective immediately.

That action presumably means Joe Sheeketski, controversial athletic director and coach of the Wolfpack is without his $12,500 annual job.

The regents refused to discuss Sheeketski's status, presumably wanting time to notify him. But they said there'd be another important announcement at noon.

The regents gave heavy indebtedness in Nevada's football program and heavy stress on the sport as reasons for abandoning it.

What price good news? So often it's the price of a telephone call . . . and that means just a few pennies to spread the glad tidings.

Worth more? Of course. Many telephone calls are practically priceless in their value to you.

And yet the average cost, including tax, of each local telephone call—the big, important calls and the usual everyday variety—is about 2 1/2¢.

Can you think of a better bargain?
